PREFACE TO FIRST EDITION.

THE want of an introduction to the study of Old-English has long been felt. Vernon's Anglo-Saxon Guide was an admirable book for its time, but has long been completely antiquated. I was therefore obliged to make my Anglo-Saxon Reader a somewhat unsatisfactory compromise between an elementary primer and a manual for advanced students, but I always looked forward to producing a strictly elementary book like the present one, which would enable me to give the larger one a more scientific character, and would at the same time serve as an introduction to it. Meanwhile, however, Professor Earle has brought out his Book for the beginner in Anglo-Saxon. But this work is quite unsuited to serve as an introduction to my Reader, and will be found to differ so totally in plan and execution from the present one as to preclude all idea of rivalry on my part. We work on lines which instead of clashing can only diverge more and more.

My main principle has been to make the book the easiest possible introduction to the study of Old-English.

Poetry has been excluded, and a selection made from the easiest prose pieces I could find. Old-English original prose is unfortunately limited in extent, and the most suitable pieces (such as the voyages of Ohthere and Wulfstan) are already given in the Reader; these I could not give over again. But I hope the short extracts from the Chronicle and the Martyrdom of King Edmund will be found not wanting in interest. For the rest of the selections I have had to fall back on scriptural extracts, which have the great advantages of simplicity and familiarity of subject. The Gospel extracts have been transferred here from the Reader, where they will be omitted in the next edition. The sentences which head the selections have been gathered mainly from the Gospels, Ælfric's Homilies, and the Chronicle. They are all of the simplest possible character, only those having been taken which would bear isolation from their context. They are intended to serve both as an introduction and as a supplement to the longer pieces. They are grouped roughly into paragraphs, according to the grammatical forms they illustrate. Thus the first paragraph consists mainly of examples of the nominative singular of nouns and adjectives, the second of accusative singulars, and so on.

The spelling has been made rigorously uniform throughout on an early West-Saxon basis. Injurious as normalizing is to the advanced student, it is an absolute necessity for the beginner, who wants to have the definite results of scholarship laid before him, not the confused and fluctuating spellings which he cannot yet interpret intelligently. Even for purely scientific purposes we require a standard of comparison and classification, as in the arrangement of words in a dictionary, where we have to decide, for instance, whether to put the original of hear under ē, īe, ī or ȳ. The spelling I here adopt is, in fact, the one I should recommend for dictionary purposes. From early West-Saxon it is an easy step both to late W. S. and to the Mercian forms from which Modern English is derived. That I give Ælfric in a spelling slightly earlier than his date is no more unreasonable than it is for a classical scholar to print Ausonius (who doubtless spoke Latin with an almost Italian pronunciation) in the same spelling as Virgil.

It is impossible to go into details, but in doubtful or optional cases I have preferred those forms which seemed most instructive to the student. Thus I have preferred keeping up the distinction between the indic. bundon and the subj. bunden, although the latter is often levelled under the former even in early MS. In the accentuation I have for the present retained the conventional quantities, which are really 'prehistoric' quantities, as I have shown elsewhere (Phil. Soc. Proc. 1880, 1881). It is no use trying to disguise the fact that Old English philology (owing mainly to its neglect in its native land) is still in an unsettled state.

In the Grammar I have cut down the phonology to the narrowest limits, giving only what is necessary to enable the beginner to trace the connection of forms within the language itself. Derivation and syntax have been treated with the same fulness as the inflections. In my opinion, to give inflections without explaining their use is as absurd as it would be to teach the names of the different parts of a machine without explaining their use, and derivation is as much a fundamental element of a language as inflection. The grammar has been based throughout on the texts, from which all words and sentences given as examples have, as far as possible, been taken. This I consider absolutely essential in an elementary book. What is the use of a grammar which gives a number of forms and rules which the learner has no occasion to apply practically in his reading? Simply to cut down an ordinary grammar and prefix it to a selection of elementary texts, without any attempt to adapt them to one another, is a most unjustifiable proceeding.

In the Glossary cognate and root words are given only when they occur in the texts, or else are easily recognizable by the ordinary English reader.

All reference to cognate languages has been avoided. Of course, if the beginner knows German, the labour of learning Old English will be lightened for him by one half, but he does not require to have the analogies pointed out to him. The same applies to the relation between Old and Modern English. To trace the history of the sounds would be quite out of place in this book, and postulates a knowledge of the intermediate stages which the beginner cannot have.

The Notes consist chiefly of references to the Grammar, and are intended mainly for those who study without a teacher. As a general rule, no such references are given where the passage itself is quoted in the Grammar.

On the whole I do not think the book could be made much easier without defeating its object. Thus, instead of simply referring the student from stęnt to standan, and thence to the Grammar, I might have saved him all this trouble by putting 'stęnt, 3 sg. pres. of standan, stand,' but the result would be in many cases that he would not look at the Grammar at all—surely a most undesirable result.

Although I have given everything that I believe to be necessary, every teacher may, of course, at his own discretion add such further illustrations, linguistic, historical, antiquarian, or otherwise, as he thinks likely to instruct or interest his pupils.

My thanks are due to Professor Skeat, not only for constant advice and encouragement in planning and carrying out this work, but also for help in correcting the proofs.

In conclusion I may be allowed to express a hope that this little book may prove useful not only to young beginners, but also to some of our Professors of and Examiners in the English language, most of whom are now beginning to see the importance of a sound elementary knowledge of 'Anglo-Saxon'—a knowledge which I believe this book to be capable of imparting, if studied diligently, and not hurriedly cast aside for a more ambitious one.

PREFACE TO THIRD EDITION.

IN the present edition I have put this book into what must be (for some time at least) its permanent form, making such additions and alterations as seemed necessary.

If I had any opportunity of teaching the language, I should no doubt have been able to introduce many other improvements; as it is, I have had to rely mainly on the suggestions and corrections kindly sent to me by various teachers and students who have used this book, among whom my especial thanks are due to the Rev. W. F. Moulton, of Cambridge, and Mr. C. Stoffel, of Amsterdam.

GRAMMAR.

THE oldest stage of English before the Norman Conquest is called 'Old English,' which name will be used throughout in this book, although the name 'Anglo-Saxon' is still often used.

There were several dialects of Old English. This book deals only with the West-Saxon dialect in its earliest form.

SOUNDS.

VOWELS.

The vowel-letters in Old English had nearly the same values as in Latin. Long vowels were occasionally marked by ('), short vowels being left unmarked. In this book long vowels are marked by (¯). The following are the elementary vowels and diphthongs, with examples, and key-words from English, French (F.), and German (G.) :—

a	as in	mann (G.)	nama (name).
ā	„	father	stān (stone).
æ	„	man	glæd (glad).
ǣ	„		dǣd (deed) ¹ .
e	„	été (F.)	ic ete ² (I eat).
ē	„	see (G.)	hē (he).
ẹ	„	men	męnn (men).

¹ Where no key-word is given for a long vowel, it must be pronounced exactly like the corresponding short one, only lengthened.

² Both vowels.

i	as in	fini (F.)	cwic (alive).
ī	„	sieh (G.)	wīn (wine).
ie	„	fin	ieldran (ancestors).
īe	„		hīeran (hear).
o	„	beau (F.)	god (god).
ō	„	so (G.)	gōd (good).
u	„	sou (F.)	sunu (son).
ū	„	gut (G.)	nū (now).
y	„	vécu (F.)	synn (sin).
ȳ	„	grün (G.)	brȳd (bride).
ea	=	æ + a	eall (all).
ēa	=	ā + a	ēast (east).
eo	=	e + o	weorc (work).
ēo	=	ē + o	dēop (deep).

e and ę are both written e in the MSS.

The diphthongs are pronounced with the stress on the first element.

Those who find a difficulty in learning strange vowel-sounds may adopt the following approximate pronunciation:—

a	as in	ask (short)	nama (năhmăh).
ā	„	father	stān (stahn).
æ	„	man	glæd (glad).
āe	„	there	āer (air).
e, ę	„	men	ete (etty), męnn (men).
ē	„	they	hē (hay).
i, ie	„	fin	cwic (quick), ieldran (ildrăhn).
ī, īe	„	see	wīn (ween), hīeran (heerăhn).
o	„	not	god (god).
ō	„	note	gōd (goad).
u	„	full	full (full).
ū	„	fool	nū (noo).
y	„	fin	synn (zin).
ȳ	„	see	brȳd (breed).
ea	=	ě-ăh	eall (ě-ăhl).
ēa	=	ai-ăh	ēast (ai-ăhst).

eo	=	ě-o	weorc (wě-ork).
ēo	=	ai-o	dēop (dai-op).

The pronunciation given in parentheses is the nearest that can be expressed in English letters as pronounced in Southern English.

CONSONANTS.

Double consonants must be pronounced double, or long, as in Italian. Thus sunu (son) must be distinguished from sunne (sun) in the same way as penny is distinguished from penknife. So also in (in) must be distinguished from inn (house); noting that in modern English final consonants in accented monosyllables after a short vowel are long, our in and inn both having the pronunciation of Old English inn, not of O. E. in.

c and g had each a back (guttural) and a front (palatal) pron., which latter is in this book written č, ǵ.

c = k, as in cēne (bold), cnāwan (know).

č = kj, a k formed in the j (English y) position, nearly as in the old-fashioned pron. of sky: čiriče (church), styčce (piece), þenčan (think).

g initially and in the combination ng was pron. as in 'get': gōd (good), lang (long); otherwise (that is, medially and finally after vowels and l, r) as in German sagen: dagas (days), burg (city), hālga (saint).

ǵ initially and in the combination nǵ was pronounced gj (corresponding to kj): ǵē (ye), ǵeorn (willing), spreŋgan (scatter); otherwise = j (as in 'you'): dagǵ (day), werǵan (accuse), herǵian (ravage). It is possible that ǵ in ǵe-boren (born) and other unaccented syllables was already pronounced j. čǵ = ǵǵ: sečǵan (say), hryčǵ (back).

f had the sound of v everywhere where it was possible:—faran (go), of (of), ofer (over); not, of course, in oft (often), or when doubled, as in offrian (offer).

h initially, as in hē (he), had the same sound as now. Everywhere else it had that of Scotch and German ch in loch :—hēah (high), Wealh (Welshman), riht (right). hw, as in hwæt (what), hwīl (while), had the sound of our wh; and hl, hn, hr differed from l, n, r respectively precisely as wh differs from w, that is, they were these consonants devo-calized, hl being nearly the same as Welsh ll :—hlāford (lord), hlūd (loud); hnappian (doze), hnutu (nut); hrape (quickly), hrēod (reed).

r was always a strong trill, as in Scotch :—rāran (to raise), hēr (here), word (word).

s had the sound of z :—sēcan (seek), swā (so), wīs (wise), ārīsan (rise); not, of course, in combination with hard consonants, as in stān (stone), fæst (firm), rīcsian (rule), or when double, as in cyssan (kiss).

þ had the sound of our th (=dh) in then :—þū (thou), þing (thing), sōþ (true), hæþen (heathen); except when in combination with hard consonants, where it had that of our th in thin, as in sēcþ (seeks). Note hæfþ (has)=hævdh.

w was fully pronounced wherever written :—writan (write), nīwe (new), sēow (sowed pret.).

STRESS.

The stress or accent is marked throughout in this book, whenever it is not on the first syllable of a word, by (·) preceding the letter on which the stress begins. Thus for·giefan is pronounced with the same stress as that of for·give, and swaru with that of ans·wer.

PHONOLOGY.

VOWELS.

Different vowels are related to one another in various ways in O.E., the most important of which are mutation (German umlaut) and gradation (G. ablaut).

The following changes are mutations :—

a . . ǣ :—mann, pl. mēnn; wand (wound prt.), wendan (to turn).

ea (=a) . . ie (=ǣ) :—eald (old), ieldra (older); feallan (fall), fielp (falls).

ā . . æ :—blāwan (to blow), blæwp (bloweth); hāl (sound), hælan (heal).

u . . y :—burg (city), pl. byrig; trum (strong), trymman (to strengthen).

o . . y :—gold, gylden (golden); coss (a kiss), cyssan (to kiss).

e . . i :—beran (to bear), birep (beareth); cweþan (speak), cwide (speech).

eo (=e) . . ie (=i) :—heord (herd), hierde (shepherd); ceorfan (cut), cierfþ (cuts).

u . . o :—curon (they chose), ġe·coren (chosen).

ū . . y :—cūþ (known), cýþan (to make known); fūl (foul), ā·fýlan (defile).

ō . . ē :—sōhte (sought prt.), sēcan (to seek); fōda (food), fēdan (to feed).

ēa . . ie :—hēawan (to hew), hiewp (hews); tēam (progeny), tieman (teem).

ēo . . ie :—stēor (rudder), stieran (steer); ġe·strēon (possession), ġe·triēnan (gain).

Before proceeding to gradation, it will be desirable to describe the other most important vowel-relations.

a, æ, ea. In O.E. original a is preserved before nasals, as in mann, lang, nama (name), and before a single consonant followed by a, u, or o, as in dagas (days), dagum (to days), faran (go), gafol (profit), and in some words when e follows, as in ic fare (I go), faren (gone). Before r, l, h followed by another consonant, and before x it becomes ea, as in heard (hard), eall (all), eald (old), eahta (eight), weaxan (to grow). Not in bærst (p. 7). In most other cases it becomes æ :—dæg (day), dægēs (of a day), fæst (firm), wær (wary).

e before nasals always becomes i: compare bindan (to bind), pret. band, with beran (to bear), pret. bær.

e before r (generally followed by a consonant) becomes eo:—eorþe (earth), heorte (heart). Not in berstan (p. 7). Also in other cases:—seolfor (silver), heofon (heaven).

i before r + cons. becomes ie:—bierþ (beareth) contr. from bireþ, hierde (shepherd) from heord (herd), wiersa (worse).

e before r, or l + cons. often becomes ie:—fierd (army) from faran, bielddo (boldness) from beald, ieldra (elder) from eald.

By gradation the vowels are related as follows:—

e (i, eo) . . a (æ, ea) . . u (o):—

bindan (inf.), band (pret.), bundon (they bound). beran (inf.), bær (pret.), boren (past partic.). ceorfan (cut), cearf (pret.), curfon (they cut), corfen (past partic.). bend (bond) = mutation of band, byrþen (burden) of bor-en.

a (æ, ea) . . æ:—spræc (spoke), spræcon (they spoke), spræc (speech).

a . . ō:—faran (to go), fōr (pret.), fōr (journey). gefēra (companion) mutation of fōr.

i . . ā . . i:—writan, wrāt, writon, gewrit (writing, subst.). (be)līfan (remain), lāf (remains), whence by mutation lēfan (leave).

eo (ū) . . ēa . . u (o):—ceōsan (choose), cēas, curon, coren. cys-t (choice). (for)lēosan (lose), lēas (loose), ārlīesan (release), losian (to be lost). būgan (bend), boga (bow).

We see that the laws of gradation are most clearly shown in the conjugation of the strong verbs. But they run through the whole language, and a knowledge of the laws of gradation and mutation is the main key to O.E. etymology.

It is often necessary to supply intermediate stages in connecting two words. Thus lēġan (lay) cannot be directly referred to liġan (lie), but only to a form lag-*, preserved in the preterite laġ. So also lbandan (to blind) can be referred only indirectly to the adjective blind through an intermediate bland-*. Again, the root-vowel of byrþen (burden) cannot be explained by the infinitive beran (bear), but only by the past participle geboren. In the same way hryre (fall sb.) must be referred, not to the infinitive hrēosan, but to the preterite plural hruron.

The vowel-changes in the preterites of verbs of the 'fall'-conjugation (1) feallan, fēoll, &c., are due not to gradation, but to other causes.

CONSONANTS.

s becomes r in the preterite plurals and past participles of strong verbs, as in curon, ġecoren from cēosan, wāron pl. of wās (was), and in other formations, such as hryre (fall) from hrēosan.

þ becomes d under the same conditions, as in wurdon, ġeworden from weorþan (become), cwæþ (quoth), pl. cwādon, cwide (speech) from cweþan (infin.).

r is often transposed, as in iernan (run) from original rinnan* (cp. the subst. ryne), berstan (burst) from brestan*, bærst (burst pret.) from bræst, hors (horse) from hross*.

The combinations cæ-, gæ- become cea-, gea-, as in ceaf (chaff) from cæf*, sceal (shall) from scæl*, geaf (gave) = gæf* from ġiefan (cp. cwæþ from cweþan), geat (gate)—cp. fæt (vessel).

gǣ- often becomes ġēa-, as in ġēafon (they gave), with which compare cwādon (they said).

ge- becomes ġie, as in ġiefan, ġieldan (pay) from gefan*, geldan*—cp. cweþan, delfan. Not in the prefix ġe- and ġē(ye).

When g comes before a consonant in inflection, it often becomes h, as in hē liehþ (he lies) from lēogan (mentiri).

h after a consonant is dropt when a vowel follows, the preceding vowel being lengthened, thus Wealh (Welshman) has plural Wēalas.

INFLECTIONS.

NOUNS.

Gender. There are three genders in O.E.—masculine, neuter, and feminine. The gender is partly natural, partly grammatical. By the natural gender names of male beings, such as se mann (the man), are masculine; of female beings, such as sēo dohtor (the daughter), are feminine; and of young creatures, such as þæt cild (the child), neuter. Note, however, that þæt wif (woman) is neuter.

Grammatical gender is known only by the gender of the article and other words connected with the noun, and, to some extent, by its form. Thus all nouns ending in -a, such as se mōna (moon), are masculine, sēo sunne (sun) being feminine. Those ending in -dōm, -hād, and -scipe are also masculine:—se wīsdōm (wisdom), se cildhād (childhood), se frēondscipe (friendship). Those in -nes, -o (from adjectives) -rāden, and -ung are feminine:—sēo rihtwīsnes (righteousness), sēo bieldo (boldness) from beald, sēo mann-rāden (allegiance), sēo scotung (shooting).

Compounds follow the gender of their last element, as in þæt burg-geat (city-gate), from sēo burg and þæt geat. Hence also se wif-mann (woman) is masculine.

The gender of most words can be learnt only by practice, and the student should learn each noun with its proper definite article.

Strong and Weak. Weak nouns are those which form their inflections with n, such as se mōna, plural mōnan; sēo sunne, genitive sing. þēre sunnan. All the others, such as se dag, pl. dagas, þæt hūs (house), gen. sing. þæs hūses, are strong.

Cases. There are four cases, nominative, accusative, dative, and genitive. The acc. is the same as the nom. in all plurals, in the sing. of all neuter nouns, and of all strong masculines. Masculine and neuter nouns never differ in the plural except in the nom. and acc., and in the singular they differ only in the acc. of weak nouns, which in neuters is the same as the nom. The dative plural of nearly all nouns ends in -um.

STRONG MASCULINES.

(1) as-plurals.

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Nom ¹ . stān (stone).	Nom. stān-as .
Dat. stān-e .	Dat. stān-um .
Gen. stān-es .	Gen. stān-a .

So also dæl (part), cyning (king), cildhād (childhood).

dæg (day) changes its vowel in the pl. (p. 5):—dæg, dæge, dæges; dagas, dagum, daga.

Nouns in -e have nom. and dat. sing. the same:—ende, (end), ende, endes; endas, endum, enda.

Nouns in -el, -ol, -um, -en, -on, -er, -or often contract:—engel (angel), engle, engles; englas, englum, engla. So also nægel (nail), þegen (thane), ealdor (prince). Others, such as æcer (field), do not contract.

h after a consonant is dropped in inflection (p. 7), as in feorh (life), fēore, fēores. So also in Wealh (Welshman), plur. Wēalas.

There are other classes which are represented only by a few nouns each.

(2) e-plurals.

A few nouns which occur only in the plur.:—lōde (people), lōdum, lōda. So also several names of nations:—Engle (English), Dene (Danes); Seaxe (Saxons), *Mierc*e (Mercians), have gen. plur. Seaxna, Miercna.

(3) Mutation-plurals.

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Nom. fōt (foot).	Nom. fēt .
Dat. fēt .	Dat. fōt-um .
Gen. fōt-es .	Gen. fōt-a .

So also tōþ (tooth). Mann (man), menn, mannes; menn, mannum, manna.

¹ Wherever the acc. is not given separately, it is the same as the nom.

(4) u-nouns.

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Nom. sun-u (son).	Nom. sun-a.
Dat. sun-a.	Dat. sun-um.
Gen. sun-a.	Gen. sun-a.

So also wudu (wood).

(5) r-nouns (including feminines).

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Nom. mōdor (mother).	Nom. mōdor.
Dat. mēder.	Dat. mōdr-um.
Gen. mōdor.	Gen. mōdr-a.

So also brōpor (brother); fæder (father), dohtor (daughter), have dat. sing. fæder, dehter.

(6) nd-nouns.

Formed from the present participle of verbs.

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Nom. frēond (friend).	Nom. frīend.
Dat. frīend.	Dat. frēond-um.
Gen. frēond-es.	Gen. frēond-a.

So also fēond (enemy).

Those in -end inflect thus:—būend (dweller), būend, būendes; būend, būendum, būendra. So also Hælend (saviour). The -ra is an adjectival inflection.

STRONG NEUTERS.

(1) u-plurals.

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Nom. scīp (ship).	Nom. scīp-u.
Dat. scīp-e.	Dat. scīp-um.
Gen. scīp-es.	Gen. scīp-a.

So all neuters with short final syllable, such as ge·bed (prayer), ge·writ (writing), geat (gate).

Fæt (vessel), fæte, fætes ; fatu, fatum, fata (p. 5).

Rīce (kingdom), rīce, rīces ; rīcu, rīcum, rīca. So also all neuters in e, except heorte and ēare (p. 13): gēpēode (language), styccē (piece).

Those in -ol, -en, -or, &c. are generally contracted:—dēofol (devil), dēofles, dēoflu. So also wāpen (weapon), mynster (monastery), wundor (wonder).

(2) Unchanged plurals.

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
Nom. hūs (house).	Nom. hūs.
Dat. hūs-e.	Dat. hūs-um.
Gen. hūs-es.	Gen. hūs-a.

So all others with long final syllables (that is, containing a long vowel, or a short vowel followed by more than one consonant), such as bearn (child), folc (nation), wīf (woman).

Feoh (money) drops its h in inflection and lengthens the eo:—feoh, fēo, fēos. So also bleoh (colour).

STRONG FEMININES.

PROPER NAMES.

Native names of persons are declined like other nouns :—Ælfred, gen. Ælfredes, dat. Ælfrede; Ēad-burg (fem.), gen. Ēadburge, &c.

Foreign names of persons sometimes follow the analogy of native names, thus Crīst, Salomon have gen. Crīstes, Salomones, dat. Crīste, Salomone. Sometimes they are declined as in Latin, especially those in -us, but often with a mixture of English endings, and the Latin endings are used somewhat loosely, the accus. ending being often extended to the other oblique cases; thus we find nom. Cȳrus, gen. Cȳres, acc. Cȳrum, dat. Cȳrum (þæm cyninge Cȳrum).

Almost the only names of countries and districts in Old English are those taken from Latin, such as Breten (Britain), Cēnt (Kent), Ġermānia (Germany), and those formed by composition, generally with land, such as Ġngla-land (land of the English, England), Israhēla-þēod (Israel). In both of these cases the first element is in the gen. pl., but ordinary compounds, such as Scot-land, also occur. In other cases the name of the inhabitants of a country is used for the country itself:—on Ġast-ēnglum=in East-anglia, lit. ‘among the East-anglians.’ So also on Angel-cynne=in England, lit. ‘among the English race,’ more accurately expressed by Angelcynnes land.

Uncompounded names of countries are sometimes undeclined. Thus we find on Cēnt, tō Hierusalēm.

Ġermānia, Asia, and other foreign names in -a take -e in the oblique cases, thus gen. Ġermānie.

ADJECTIVES.

Adjectives have three genders, and the same cases as nouns, though with partly different endings, together with strong and weak inflection. In the masc. and neut. sing. they have an instrumental case, for which in the fem. and plur., and in the weak inflection the dative is used.

STRONG ADJECTIVES.

Adjectives with a short syllable before the endings take -u in the fem. sing. nom. and neut. pl. nom., those with a long one drop it.

SINGULAR.

	Masc.	Neut.	Fem.

Those with æ, such as glæd (glad), change it to a in dat. gladum, &c.

Those in -e, such as blīpe (glad), drop it in all inflections:—blīpne, blīpu, blīpre.

Those in -ig, -el, -ol, -en, -er, -or often contract before inflections beginning with a vowel, as in hālīg (holy), hālges, hālgum; micel (great), miclu, micle. Not, of course, before consonants:—hālīgne, micelne, micelra.

Those in -u, such as gearu (ready), change the u into a w before vowels:—gearwes, gearwe.

Adjectives with long syllable before the endings drop the u of the fem. and neuter:—

	Masc.	Neut.	Fem.
(b) Nom. Sing.	gōd (good),	gōd,	gōd.

Hēah (high) drops its second h in inflection and contracts:—hēare, nom. pl. hēa, dat. hēam, acc. sing. masc. hēanne.

Fela (many) is indeclinable.

WEAK ADJECTIVES.

COMPARISON.

The comparative is formed by adding -ra, and is declined like a weak adjective :—lēof (dear), lēofra masc., lēofre fem., lēofran plur., etc. ; māre (famous), mārra. The superlative is formed by adding -ost, and may be either weak or strong :—lēofost (dearest).

The following form their comparisons with mutation, with superlative in -est (the forms in parentheses are adverbs) :—

eald (old),	ieldra,	ieldest.
lang (long),	lēngra	lēngest.
nēah (near),	(nēar),	nīehst.

The others up to twēntig are generally indeclinable. Those in -tig are sometimes declined like neuter nouns, sometimes like adjectives, and are often left undeclined. When not made into adjectives they govern the genitive.

Hund and pūsend are either declined as neuters or left undeclined, always taking a genitive :—eahta hund mīla (eight hundred miles), fēower pūsend wera (four thousand men).

Units are always put before tens :—ān and twēntig (twenty-one).

The ordinals are always weak, except ōper, which is always strong.

PLURAL.

Nom.	hīe (they).
Dat.	him.
Gen.	hiera.

There are no reflexive pronouns in O. E., and the ordinary personal pronouns are used instead:—hīe ġesamnodon hīe (they collected themselves, assembled); hīe ā·bādon him wīf (they asked for wives for themselves). Self is used as an emphatic reflexive adjective agreeing with its pronoun:—swwā swā hīe wȳscton him selfum (as they wished for themselves).

POSSESSIVE.

Mīn (my), þīn (thy), ūre (our), ēower (your), and the dual uncer and incer are declined like other adjectives. The genitives his (his, its), hiere (her), hiera (their) are used as indeclinable possessives.

Hwelc (which) is declined like a strong adjective: it is used both as a noun and an adjective.

DEMONSTRATIVE.

SINGULAR.

	Masc.	Neut.	Fem.
Nom.	se (that, the),	þæt,	sēo.
Acc.	þone,	þæt,	þā.

Instr.	þȳ, þon,	þȳ,	(þære).

PLURAL.

Nom.	þā.
Dat.	þæm.
Gen.	þāra

Se is both a demonstrative and a definite article. It is also used as a personal pronoun :—hē ġe'hīerþ mīn word, and wyrþ þā (he hears my words, and does them). Sē as a demonstrative and pers. pronoun has its vowel long.

SINGULAR.

	Masc.	Neut.	Fem.
Nom.	þes (this),	þis,	þēos.
Acc.	þisne,	þis,	þās.
Dat.	þissum,	þissum,	þisse.

Instr.	þȳs,	þȳs,	(þisse).

PLURAL.

Nom.	þās.
Dat.	þissum.
Gen.	þissa.

Other demonstratives, which are used both as nouns and as adjectives, are se ilca (same), which is always weak, swelc (such), which is always strong.

RELATIVE.

The regular relative is the indeclinable þe, as in ālc þāra þe þās mīn word ġe'hīerþ (each of those who hears these my words). It is often combined with sē, which is declined :—sē þe = who, masc., sēo þe, fem., &c. Sē alone is also used as a relative :—hēr is mīn cnapa, þone ic ġe'cēas (here is my servant, whom I have chosen) ; sometimes in the sense of 'he who' :—hēr þū hæfst þæt þīn is (here thou hast that which is thine).

INDEFINITE.

Indefinites are formed with swā and the interrogative pronouns, thus :—swā hwā swā, swā hwelc swā (whoever), swā hwæt swā (whatever),

Ān and sum (some) are used in an indefinite sense :—ān mann, sum mann=‘a certain man,’ hence ‘a man.’ But the indefinite article is generally not expressed.

Ælc (each), æniġ (any), næniġ (no, none), are declined like other adjectives.

Ōþer (other) is always strong :—þā ōþre menn.

Man, another form of mann, is often used in the indefinite sense of ‘one,’ French on :—his brōþor Horsan man ofslōg (they killed his brother Horsa).

VERBS.

There are two classes of verbs in O. E., strong and weak. The conjugation of strong verbs is effected mainly by means of vowel-gradation, that of weak verbs by the addition of d (-ode, -ede, -de) to the root-syllable.

The following is the conjugation of the strong verb bindan (bind), which will serve to show the endings which are common to all verbs :—

	INDICATIVE.	SUBJUNCTIVE.
Pres. sing.	1. bind-e,	bind-e.
	2. bind-est, bintst,	bind-e.
	3. bind-eþ, bint,	bind-e.
plur.	bind-aþ,	bind-en.
Pret. sing.	1. band,	bund-e.
	2. bund-e,	bund-e.
	3. band,	bund-e.
plur.	bund-on,	bund-en.
Imper. sing.	bind ; plur. bind-aþ.	Inf. bind-an.
Partic. pres.	bind-ende ; pret. ge-’bund-en.
Gerund.	tō bind-enne.

For the plural bindaþ, both indicative and imperative, binde is used when the personal pronoun follows immediately after the verb :—wē bindaþ (we bind), but binde wē (let us bind); so also gāþ ! (go plur.), but gā gē ! (go ye).

The present participle may be declined like an adjective. Its declension when used as a noun is given above, p. 10.

The past participle generally prefixes ge-, as in gebunden, genumen from niman (take), unless the other parts of the verbs have it already, as in gehieran (hear), gehiered. It is sometimes prefixed to other parts of the verb as well. No ge is added if the verb has another prefix, such as ā-, be-, for-; thus for-giefan (forgive) has the past participle for-giefen. The past participle may be declined like an adjective.

Traces of an older passive voice are preserved in the form hāt-te from hātan (call, name), which is both present 'is called,' and preterite 'was called':—se munuc hātte Abbo (the monk's name was Abbo).

STRONG VERBS.

In the strong verbs the plural of the pret. indic. generally has a different vowel from that of the sing. (ic band, wē bundon). The 2nd sing. pret. indic. and the whole pret. subj. always have the vowel of the preterite plural indicative (þū bunde, ic bunde, wē bunden.)

The 2nd and 3rd persons sing. of the pres. indic. often mutate the root-vowel, thus :—

a	becomes e	as in	(hē)	stent	from	standan	(stand).
ea	„	ie	„	fielþ	„	feallan	(fall).
e	„	i	„	cwiþþ	„	cweþan	(say).
eo	„	ie	„	wierþ	„	weorþan	(happen).
ā	„	æ	„	hætt	„	hātan	(command).
ō	„	ē	„	grēwþ	„	grōwan	(grow).
ēa	„	īe	„	hīewþ	„	hēawan	(hew).
ēo	„	īe	„	ċiest	„	ċēosan	(choose).
ū	„	ȳ	„	lȳcþ	„	lūcan	(close).

The full ending of the 3rd pers. sing. pres. indic. is -eþ, which is generally contracted, with the following consonant-changes :—

-teþ	becomes	-tt	as in	lætt	from	lætan	(let).
-deþ	„	-tt	„	bitt	„	bīdan	(wait).
-ddeþ	„	-tt	„	bitt	„	biddan	(pray).
-þeþ	„	-þþ	„	cwiþþ	„	cweþan	(say).
-seþ	„	-st	„	ċīest	„	ċēosan	(choose).
-ndeþ	„	-nt	„	bint	„	bindan	(bind).

Double consonants become single, as in hē fielp from feallan.

Before the -st of the 2nd pers. consonants are often dropt, as in þū cwist from cweþan, þū ċīest from ċēosan; and d becomes t, as in þū bintst from bindan.

For the changes between s and r, þ and d, g and h, see p. 7.

Some verbs, such as sēon (see), drop the h and contract before most inflections beginning with a vowel :—ic sēo, wē sēoþ, tō sēonne; but hē sihp.

There are seven conjugations of strong verbs, distinguished mainly by the different formation of their preterites. The following lists comprise all the strong verbs that occur in the texts given in this book, together with several others of the commoner ones.

I. 'Fall'-conjugation.

The pret. sing. and pl. has ēo or ē, and the past partic. retains the original vowel of the infinitive.

(a) ēo-preterites.

INFINITIVE.	THIRD PRES.	PRET. SING.	PRET. PL.	PTC. PRET.
feallan (fall)	fielþ	fēoll	fēollon	feallen
healdan (hold)	hielt	hēold	hēoldon	healden
wealdan (wield)	wielt	wēold	wēoldon	wealden

ē :—

wēpan (weep)	wēþþ	wēop	wēopon	wōpen
-----------------------	------	------	--------	-------

Wēpan has really a weak present (p. 30) with mutation (the original ō re-appearing in the past partic.), but it makes no difference in the inflection.

ō :—

flōwan (flow)	flēwþ	flēow	flēowon	flōwen
grōwan (grow)	grēwþ	grēow	grēowon	grōwen

II. 'Shake'-conjugation.

Verbs in a (ea) and ē (iē). Ō in pret. sing. and pl., a (æ) in partic. pret. Standan drops its n in the pret. The partic. pret. of swērian is irregular.

INFINITIVE.	THIRD. PRES.	PRET. SING.	PRET. PL.	PTC. PRET.
faran (go)	færþ	fōr	fōron	faren
sacan (quarrel)	sæcþ	sōc	sōcon	sacen
scacan (shake)	scæcþ	scōc	scōcon	scacen
standan (stand)	stęnt	stōd	stōdon	standen

The following shows contraction of original ea :—

slēan (strike)	sliehþ	slōg	slōgon	slægen
-------------------------	--------	------	--------	--------

ē:—

hębban (lift)	hęþ	hōf	hōfon	hafen
sčieppan (create)	sčieþþ	scōp	scōpon	scapen
swęrian (swear)	swęreþ	swōr	swōron	sworen

The presents of these verbs are inflected weak, so that their imperative sing. is hefe and swere, like that of węnian (p. 32). Swęrian has indic. swęrige, swęrest, like węnian; hębban has hębbe, hęfst, &c. like hīeran (p. 30).

III. 'Bind'-conjugation.

I (iē, e, eo) followed by two consonants, one or both of which is nearly always a liquid (l, r) or nasal (m, n) in the infin., a (æ, ea) in pret. sing., u in pret. pl., u (o) in ptc. pret. Findan has a weak preterite.

i:—

bindan (bind)	bint	band	bundon	bunden
drincan (drink)	drincþ	dranc	druncon	druncen
findan (find)	fint	funde	fundon	funden
giēldan (pay)	gielt	geald	guldon	golden

WEAK VERBS.

There are three conjugations of weak verbs—(1) in -an, pret. -de (hīeran, hīerde, ‘hear’); (2) in -ian, pret. -ede (wēnian, wēnede, ‘wean’); (3) in -ian, pret. -ode (lufian, lufode, ‘love’). The verbs of the first two conjugations nearly all have a mutated vowel in the present and infinitive, which those of the third conjugation very seldom have.

I. an-verbs.

This class of weak verbs has the same endings as the strong verbs, except in the pret. and past partic., which are formed by adding -de and -ed respectively, with the following consonant changes.

-ndde	becomes	-nde	as in	sēnde	from	sēndan	(send).
-llde	„	-lde	„	fylde	„	fyllan	(fill).
-tde	„	-tte	„	mētte	„	mētan	(find).
-pde	„	-pte	„	dyppte	„	dyppan	(dip).
-cde	„	-hte	„	tāhte	„	tācan	(show).

The past partic. is generally contracted in the same way:—sēnd, mētt, tāht, but some of them often retain the uncontracted forms:—fyllēd, dyppēd. When declined like adjectives they drop their e where practicable:—fyllēd, plur. fyldē; hīerēd, hīerēd.

The 2nd and 3rd pres. sing. ind. are contracted as in the strong verbs.

DERIVATION.

PREFIXES.

The following are the most important prefixes, some of which are verbal, being confined to verbs and words formed directly from them; some nominal, being confined to nouns and adjectives.

ā- (1) originally 'forth,' 'away,' as in ā-rīsan, 'rise forth,' 'arise'; ā-faran, 'go away,' 'depart'; but generally only intensive, as in ā-cwēllan (kill), ā-hrēosan (fall).

(2) = 'ever' in pronouns and particles, where it gives an indefinite sense, as in ā-hwær (anywhere), ā-wiht (anything).

æġ- from ā-ġe-, the ā being mutated and the e dropped, has a similar meaning, as in æġ-hwælc (each), æġþer = æġ-hwæþer (either).

be-, originally 'by,' 'around' (cp. the preposition be), (1) specializes the meaning of a transitive verb, as in be-seġttan (beset, surround), be-sċieran (shear); (2) makes an intransitive verb transitive, as in be-þencan (consider) from þencan (think); (3) gives a privative meaning, as in be-hēafđian (behead). In some words, such as be-cuman (come), it is practically unmeaning.

for- (which is distinct from the preposition for) generally has the sense of 'loss' or 'destruction,' as in for·dōn (destroy), for·weorþan (perish). Of course, if the verb with which it is compounded already has this meaning, it acts merely as an intensitive, as in for·brēotan (break up, break), for·scrinan (shrink up). It also modifies in a bad sense generally, as in for·sēon (despise), or negatives, as in for·bēo-dan (forbid).

ge- originally meant 'together,' as in gefēra (fellow-traveller, companion) from fēran (travel). With verbs it often signifies 'completion,' 'attainment,' and hence 'success,' as in gegān (conquer), originally 'go over,' or 'reach,' gewinnan (win) from winnan (fight). Hence generally prefixed to hīeran and sēon, ge·hīeran and ge·sēon strictly meaning 'succeed in hearing, seeing.' It is generally prefixed to past participles (p. 23), where it originally gave the meaning of completion—ge·lufod = 'completely loved.'

mis- = 'mis,' as in mis·dād (misdeed).

n- = ne (not), as in nā (not), literally 'never,' nāfre (never), næs (was not) = ne wæs.

on- as a verbal prefix has nothing to do with the preposition on. It properly signifies 'separation,' as in on·lūcan (open) from lūcan (lock, close), but is often practically unmeaning, as in on·ginnan (begin).

or-, literally 'out of,' is privative, as in orsorg (unconcerned) from sorg (sorrow).

tō- as a verbal prefix has nothing to do with the preposition tō (which occurs in tō·gædre, 'together,' &c.), but signifies 'separation,' as in tō·berstan (burst asunder), tō·breġdan (shake off), and hence 'destruction,' as in tō·cwīesan (crush to pieces, bruise).

un- negatives, as in un·gesælig (unhappy).

DERIVATIONS FROM PARTICIPLES.

Many abstract words are formed from present participles (often in a passive sense) and past participles (often in an active sense) :—

-nes :—for-giefen-nes (forgiveness), gēreċed-nes (narrative), welwillend-nes (benevolence).

-lic :—unārīmed-lic (innumerable).

-lice :—welwillend-lice (benevolently).

SYNTAX.

GENDER.

When masculine and feminine beings are referred to by the same adjective or pronoun, the adjective or pronoun is put in the neuter :—hīe ġe'samnodon hīe, ealle þā hēafod-menn, and ēac swelce wīf-menn . . and þā hīe blīpost wāron . . (they gathered themselves, all the chief men, and also women . . and when they were most merry . .). Here blīpost is in the neuter plur.

CASES.

Accusative. Some verbs of asking (a question) and requesting, together with lāran (teach), take two accusatives, one of the person, and another of the thing :—hīe hine ne dorston cēniġ þing āscian (they durst not ask him anything); wē magon ēow rād ġe'lāran (we can teach you a plan).

The accusative is used adverbially to express duration of time : hwȳ stande ġē hēr ealne dæg īdle? (why stand ye here all the day idle?)

Dative. The dative in Old E. is of two kinds, (1) the dative proper, and (2) the instrumental dative, interchanging with the regular instrumental. It is not always easy to separate the two.

(1) The dative proper usually designates personal relations, and is frequently used with verbs, together with an accusative (generally of the thing). The dative is also used with adjectives. It is used not only with verbs of giving, &c., as in hē sealde ælcum ānne peniġ (he gave each a penny); addressing, as in ic ēow sġġe (I say to you), hē þancode his Dryhtne (he thanked his Lord); but also with many verbs of benefiting, influencing, &c., as in ne dō ic þē nānne tēonan (I do thee no injury), hīe noldon him līefan (they would not allow them to do so); þām rēpum stīerde (restrained the cruel ones). Also in looser constructions, to denote the person indirectly affected, benefited, &c., as in bycgap ēow ele (buy for yourselves oil). Note especially the following idiom: hīe gēsōhton Bretene Brettum tō fultume (they came to Britain as a help to the Britains—to help them); hē clipode Crīst him tō fultume (he called Christ to his help).

The dative is also used with adjectives of nearness, likeness, &c.:—Ēadmund cyning clipode ānne biscop þe him gēhēndost wæs (King Edmund summoned a bishop who was nearest at hand to him); heofona rīce is gēlīc þām mangere þe sōhte þæt gōde mēregrot (the kingdom of the heavens is like the merchant who sought the good pearl).

(2) The instrumental dative is used to denote the instrument and manner of an action: hē gēgēndode yflum dēaþe (he ended with an evil death). Hence its use to form adverbs, as in scēafmāelum (sheafwise). It also signifies time when:—þrim gēarum ār þām þe hē forþfērde (three years before he died), which is also expressed by the instrumental itself:—sēo wolde gfsian ælce gēare þone sanct (she used to cut the saint's hair every year); þy fēorþan gēare his rīces (in the fourth year of his reign). A past participle with a noun in the instrumental dative is used like the ablative absolute in Latin: Hubba be'lāf on Norþhymbra-lande, gēwunnenum sige mid wælhrēownesse (H. remained in Northumbria, victory having been won with cruelty).

Genitive. The genitive is often used in a partitive sense:—his fēonda sum (one of his enemies); hiera fīf wēron dysige (five of them were foolish). Hence it is generally used with fela, as in fela wundra (many miracles); also with numerals when used as substantives (p. 18).

The genitive is often used like an accusative to denote the object of various emotions and mental states, such as joy, desire, remembering:—hīe þæs fægnodon swiþe (they rejoiced at it greatly); mē lēofre wære þæt ic on gefeohte fēolle wiþ þēm þe mīn folc mōste hiera eardes brūcan (it would be pleasanter to me to fall in fight that my people might enjoy (possess) their country); ic þæs gēwilniġe (I desire that); ġif hē his fēores rōhte (if he cared about his life); hē wæs þæs Hāelendes gemyndiġ (he was mindful of—he remembered the Saviour).

Some of these verbs, such as bidan (ask), take an accusative of the person and a genitive of the thing:—hē hine hlāfes bitt (he asks him for bread).

Verbs of depriving, restraining, &c., have the same construction:—nis Angel-cynn berdeled Dryhtnes hālgena (England is not deprived of the Lord's saints).

Some verbs of giving, &c., take a genitive of the thing and a dative of the person:—him wæs of togen ælcas fōdan (they were deprived of all food).

The genitive is often used to define an adjective or noun:—þū eart wierþe sleġes (thou art worthy of death); on þēm ġēare þe Ælfred æþeling ān and twentiġ ġēara wæs (in the year when Prince Alfred was twenty-one).

CONCORD.

Adjectives agree with their nouns not only when used attributively (gōde menn), but also when the adjective follows the noun, either predicatively or in apposition:—þā menn sind gōde; hē ġeseah oþre idle standan (he saw others standing idle); hīe cōmon mid langum scīpum, nā manigum (they came with long ships, not many).

APPPOSITION.

In such expressions as 'the island of Britain,' the second noun is not put in the genitive, but the two are simply put in apposition, both being declined separately :—Breten iēgland, on Bretene (þām) iēglande. In ‘king Alfred,’ &c., the proper name is put first in the same way :—Ælfred æbeling (prince Alfred); on Ælþreðes cyninges dæge (in the days of king Ælþred).

There is a similar apposition with the adjective sum followed by a noun or pronoun, as in sume þā menn (some of the men); þā þā hē sēow, sumu hīe fēollon wiþ weg (while he sowed, some of them [the seeds] fell by the road). Sometimes the pronoun precedes, as in þā bādon hīe sume þæt Samson mōste him macian sum gamen (then some of them asked that Samson might make some sport for them).

Another kind of apposition occurs in instances like the following, where we have an adjective agreeing with a following noun, and denoting a part of it :—hīe ġe sāeton sūþanwearde Bretene ārest (they occupied the south of Britain first); sūþanweard hit (= þæt land) hæfdon Peohtas (the Picts had the south part of it).

ADJECTIVES.

The weak forms are used :

(1) after the definite article :—se æþela cyning (the noble king); þæs æþelan cyninges, þæt gōde mēregrot, þā gōdan mēregrotu.

(2) after þis :—þās earman landlēode (these poor people, pl.); þes hālgas cyning (this holy king), þisses hālgan cyninges.

(3) occasionally after other demonstrative and indefinite adjectives, and often after possessive pronouns :—þīne dīeglan gold-hordas (thy hidden treasures).

(4) in the vocative :—þū yfla þēow and slāwa! (thou bad and slothful servant); ēalā þū lēofa cyning! oh, thou dear king).

Note that ōþer always keeps the strong form : þā ōþru dēor (the other wild beasts). So also do the possessive pronouns :

þās mīn word (these my words). Ān in the sense of 'one' keeps the strong form to distinguish it from the weak āna = 'alone': þæt ān dēorwierþe mēregrot (the one precious pearl).

ARTICLES.

The definite article is omitted as in Modern English before names such as God, and also before Dryhten (the Lord), Dēofol (the Devil), although se Dēofol also occurs, and names of nations:—Bretta cyning (king of the Britons).

It is omitted in many prepositional combinations, not only in those where it is omitted in Modern English also, as in sigefæst on sē and on lande (victorious on sea and on land), but also in many others: gēwende tō wuda on gēan (went back to the wood); se flothere fērde eft tō scīpe (the army of pirates went back to their ships); hē fēng tō rīce (he took the government—came to the throne).

The definite article is, on the other hand, sometimes used where it would not be in Modern E., as in se mann = 'man' (men in general).

The indefinite article is often not expressed at all:—þæt dyde unhold mann (an enemy did that); hē be stealcode on land swā swā wulf (he stole to land like a wolf). Or it is expressed by sum: on þām lande wæs sum mann, Lēofrīc gēhāten (in that country was a man called L.). Or by ān, as in Modern English:—ān wulf wearþ āsēnd tō be wērienne þæt hēafod wiþ þā oþru dēor (a wolf was sent to protect the head against the other wild beasts).

PRONOUNS.

Hwæt is used interrogatively of persons where we should use 'who':—hē nyste hwæt hīe wāron (he did not know who they were).

VERBS.

NUMBER.

After ælc þāra þe (each of-those-who) the verb is put in the sing., agreeing not with þāra þe but with ælc:—ælc þāra þe þās mīn word ge'hīerþ (each of those who hear these my words).

When þæt or þis is connected with a plural predicate by means of the verb 'to be,' the verb is put in the plural:—þæt wæron þā ærestan scīpu Deniscra manna þe Angel-cynnes land ge'sōhton (those were the first ships of Danish men which came to the land of the English race).

Impersonal verbs take an accusative of the person, sometimes also with a genitive of the thing.

Others, such as þynian (appear), take a dative of the person:—wæs him ge'pūnt þæt hīe be'hýdden þæt hēafod (they thought they (the Danes) had hidden the head).

TENSES.

There being no future inflection in Old E., the present is used instead:—ne ā'býhþ nēfre Eādmund Hinguare (Edmund will never submit to H.); gā gē on mīnne wīngēard, and ic sēlle ēow þæt riht biþ (go ye into my vineyard, and I will give you what is right). As we see in this example, there is a tendency to use bēon in a future sense. Another example is gif ic bēo ge'bunden mid seofon rāpum, sōna ic bēo ge'wield (if I am bound with seven ropes, I shall at once be overcome). The future is sometimes expressed by will and shall, as in Modern English, though generally with a sense of volition with the one, and of necessity with the other, the idea of simple futurity coming out most clearly in the preterites wolde and scolde:—

Hē ge'lēhte āne lēon þe hine ā'bītan wolde (he seized a lion that was going to devour him); hīe wēndon þæt hīe scolden mære onfōn (they expected to receive more).

The preterite has the meaning of the modern

(1) Preterite and imperfect:—se sǿwere ūt ēode his sǿd to sǿwenne, and þā þā hē sēow . . (the sower went out to sow his seed, and while he was sowing . .).

(2) Perfect:—hēr is mīn cnapa, þone ic ġecēas (here is my servant, whom I have chosen);—ūre cyning cōm nū hēr tō lande (our king has just landed here).

(3) Pluperfect:—þā þā ġecōmon þe ymb þā ġndlyftan tīd cōmon (when those came who had come at the eleventh hour).

Periphrastic tenses are sometimes formed, as in Modern E., by hæbbe and hæfde with the past participles, and often have the meanings of the modern perfect and pluperfect respectively, as in nū ic hæbbe ġestriened ōþru twā pund (now I have gained two other pounds), but even the pluperfect often has the sense of a simple preterite. The participle is undeclinable in the later language, but originally it was declined, being really an adjective in apposition to the noun or pronoun governed by habban: hīe hæfdon hīera cyning āworpenne (they had deposed their king).

The pluperfect sense is often indicated by the addition of the adverb ǣr (before):—his swēora, þe ǣr wæs forslægen (his neck, which had been cut through).

The periphrastic forms of intransitive verbs are formed with wesan:—sipþan hīe āfarene wǣron (after they had gone away). Here the participle always agrees with the noun or pronoun with which it is connected.

The periphrases with the present participle have no distinctive meanings of duration, &c.:—ān mann wæs eardiende on Israhēla þēode, Manuē ġehāten (a man dwelt in Israel called Manue).

PASSIVE.

The passive is formed with wesan or weorþan with the past participle. These forms are very vague in meaning, and the distinction between the two auxiliaries is not clearly marked, but wesan appears to indicate a state, weorþan an action.

wearþ ge'lofod is generally preterite or perfect in meaning : ān wulf wearþ ā'send (a wolf was sent); mīne lēofe þeġnas, þe on hiera beðdum wurdon of'slægene (my beloved thanes, who have been killed in their beds).

wæs ge'lofod, indicating a state, is naturally pluperfect in meaning :—se ærendraca sæġde his hlāforde hū him ge'andwyrð wæs (the messenger told his lord how he had been answered).

SUBJUNCTIVE.

The subjunctive states something not as a fact, as in the indicative, but merely as an object of thought. Hence it is used to express wish, conditions, doubt, &c.

A. In principal sentences.

Wish and command (often nearly equivalent to the imperative) :—þæs him sīe wuldor and lof ā būtan ġnde (therefore let there be to him praise and glory ever without end); ne hē ealu ne drince nēfre opþe wīn (nor shall he ever drink ale or wine).

B. In dependent sentences.

The chief cases are the following :—

(1) In indirect narrative and question : sēo cwēn sæġde þæt hiere nāre be healfum dāle ġe'sæġd be Salomones mārþo (the queen said that she had not been told about Solomon's glory by half); ic āscīġe hwēr sēo offrung sīe (I ask where the offering is); menn woldon scēawian hū hē lāġe (men wished to see how he lay). When the statement in the indirect narration is perfectly certain in itself, and not merely accepted on the authority of the speaker, it is put in the indicative:—hē hiere sǣgde on hwām his miht wæs (he told her what his strength consisted in).

(2) After verbs of desiring and commanding:—

þæs ic ġewilniġe and ġewysce mid mōde þæt ic āna ne belīfe æfter minum lēofum þegnum (that I desire and wish with heart that I may not remain alone after my dear thanes).

(3) To express purpose:—þȳ lās ġē þone hwāte āwyrtwalien (lest ye root up the wheat);—Dryhten ās tāg niþer, tō bēam þæt hē ġesāwe þā burg (the Lord descended, in order that he might see the city).

(4) To express result:—þū næfst þā mihte þæt þū mæġe him wiþstandan (thou hast not the power that thou canst withstand him).

(5) To express hypothetical comparison (as if):—se wulf folgode forþ mid þām hēafde, swelce hē tam wære (the wolf followed on with the head, as if he were tame); hē ġelāhte āne lēon, and tōbræġd hīe tō styccum, swelce hē tōtære ticcen (he seized a lion and tore her to pieces, as if he were rending a kid).

(6) In conditional clauses, generally with ġif or būtan, and in concessive clauses with þēah, þēah þe:—God wāt þæt ic nyle ābūgan fram his bīgengum æfre, swelte ic, libbe ic (God knows that I will not swerve from his worship ever, whether I die or live); þās flotmenn cumað, and þē cwicne ġebindaþ, būtan þū mid flēame þinum fēore ġeþeorge (these pirates will come and bind thee alive, unless thou savest thy life with flight); God hielt Ēadmund hālne his lichaman oþ þone miclan dag, þēah þe hē on moldan cōme (God will keep Edmund with his body whole until the great day, although he has come to earth—been buried). Sometimes the idea of ‘if’ must be got from the context:—clīpiap tō þissum gíeftum swā hwelce swā gē gē mēten (summon to this wedding whomsoever ye meet, = if ye meet any one); hīe be hēton hiere sēat-tas wiþ þām þe hēo be swice Samson (they promised her money in consideration of her betraying Samson, = if she would . .).

When the statement is assumed as unreal, instead of merely hypothetical, as in the above instances, both clauses are put in the subjunctive, the preterite being substituted for the present, as in Modern English also, where if I were . . implies I am not . . The modern distinction between if I were and if I had been, the former corresponding to the present indicative I am not, the latter to the preterite I was not, is not made in Old English, which uses gif ic wære in both instances. Sometimes the ‘if’-clause has to be supplied in thought:—mē lēofre wære þæt ic on gē feohte fēolle wiþ þām þe mīn folc mōste hiera eardes brūcan (I would rather fall in fight that my people might possess their country), where we must supply some such clause as gif hit swā bēon mihle (if it might be so—if it were possible to save my people by my death).

(7) In clauses dependant on a negative sentence:—nīs nān þing þe his mihte wiþstande (there is nothing that resists his might). Sometimes the negation must be gathered from the context, as in se hālga is mærra þonne menn mægen āsmēan (the saint is more illustrious than men can conceive = the saint is so illustrious that no men can conceive it).

(8) In other cases, to express uncertainty, futurity, &c.: þīn rīce gēwilt fram þē, oþ þæt þū wite þæt God gēwielt manna rīca (thy kingdom shal depart from thee, till thou knowest that God rules the kingdoms of men); uton weorþian ūrne naman, ær þāem þe wē sīen tō dǣlde geond ealle eorþan ! (let us make our name famous, before we are dispersed over the earth).

The preterite subjunctive is often expressed by should and would with an infinitive, as in Modern English.

Scolde is used after verbs of desiring, requesting and commanding:—biddende þone Ælmihtigan þæt hē him ārian scolde (praying the Almighty to have mercy on him). In the following example the verb of commanding is understood from the noun ārende:—hē sǣnde tō þæm cyninge bēotlic ārende, þæt hē ābūgan scolde tō his mannrādenne, gif hē his fēores rōhte (he sent to the king an arrogant message, that he was to turn to his allegiance, if he cared about his life).

Wolde is used after verbs of purpose:—se cyning ēode inn þæt he wolde ġesēon þā þe þær sǣton (the king went in to see those who were sitting there).

INFINITIVE.

After verbs of commanding the infinitive often seems to have a passive sense:—hīe hēton him sendan mārān fultum (they ordered that more forces should be sent to them). So also after verbs of hearing, &c.:—þæt mǣste wæl þe wē sǣġan hīerdon (the greatest slaughter we have heard told of). In such cases an indefinite pronoun has been omitted: 'ordered them to send . .' etc.

GERUND.

The gerund is used—

(1) to express purpose:—ūt ēode se sǣwere his sǣd tō sǣzwenne (the sower went forth to sow his seed).

(2) it defines or determines an adjective (adverb or noun): hit is scandlic ymb swelc tō sprecenne (it is shameful to speak of such things).

PREPOSITIONS.

Some prepositions govern the accusative, such as þurh (through), ymbe (about); some the dative (and instrumental), such as æfter (after), ǣr (before), æt (at), be (by), binnan (within), būtan (without), for (for), fram (from), of (of), tō (to).

Some govern both accusative and dative, such as ofer (over), on (on, in), under (under). The general rule is that when motion is implied they take the accusative, when rest is implied, the dative. Thus on with the accusative signifies 'into,' with the dative 'in.' But this rule is not strictly followed, and we often find the accusative used with verbs of rest, as in hē his hūs ġetimbode ofer stān (he built his house on a rock), and conversely, the dative with verbs of motion, as in hīe fēollon on stēnihte (they fell on stony ground).

As regards the use and meaning of the prepositions, it must be noticed that in is very seldom used, its place being supplied by on, the meaning 'on' being in its turn often expressed by ofer, as in the passage just quoted.

When a thing is referred to, þær is substituted for hit, the preposition being joined on to the þær, so that, for instance, þær-tō corresponds to tō him; hīe lǣddon þone cyning tō ānum trēowe, and tiegdon hine þær-tō (they led the king to a tree, and tied him to it). So also hēr-beēastan is equivalent to 'east of this (country).'

Prepositions sometimes follow, instead of preceding the words they modify, sometimes with other words intervening: hīe scuton mid gafelocum him tō (they shot at him with missiles); hīe cwædon him be twēonan (they said among themselves); þām Ælmihtigan tō lofe, þe hīe on ġetiefdon (to the praise of the Almighty, in whom they believed), where on refers to the indeclinable þe. So also in þæt hūs þe hē inne wunode (the house he dwelt in).

Where the noun modified by such a preposition is not expressed, the preposition becomes an adverb: se cyning sende his hēre tō, and for-dyde þā mannslogan (the king sent his army to the place, and destroyed the murderers).

NEGATION.

The negative particle is ne, which drops its e before some common verbs and pronouns, as in nīs = ne is, nān = ne ān. The negative particle is prefixed to every finite verb in a sentence, and to all the words besides which admit the contracted forms:—tō-cwīesed hrēod hē ne for-brīett (he breaks not the bruised reed), hit nā ne fēoll (it did not fall); nān mann nyste nān þing (no man knew anything). So also with ne . . ne = 'neither . . nor': ne flītt hē ne hē ne hrīemp (he neither disputes nor cries out).

CORRELATION.

Correlation is often more fully expressed in Old than in Modern English, as in þā þā mēnn slēpon, þā cōm his fēonda sum = 'when the men slept, then came one of his enemies.' In þā þā = 'when' the two correlatives are brought immediately together:—þā þā hē sēow, sumu hīe fēollon wip weg = 'then when he sowed, some of them fell by the road.' In the following example the conjunction þæt is correlative with the pronoun þæt:—þæs ic ġewilniġe þæt ic āna ne be-līfe æfter mīnum lēofum þegnum—'that I desire, that I may not remain alone after my dear thanes.' Sometimes a word is used to include both the demonstrative and the relative meaning:—hē ġe-brōhte hine þær hē hine ær ġe-nam (he brought him to the place where he took him from).

WORD-ORDER.

The Old English word-order resembles that of German in many respects, though it is not so strict, thus :—

The verb comes before its nominative when the sentence is headed by an adverb or adverbial group, or when the object or predicate is put at the head of the sentence :—þā cwæþ se cyning (then said the king); ārest wæron būend þisses landes Brettas (at first the Britons were the inhabitants of this country); on his dagum cōmon ārest þrēo sċipu (in his days three ships first came); þæt bāron olfendas (camels carried it); māre is se God þe Daniël on be'liefþ (great is the God that Daniel believes in).

The infinite often comes at the end of the sentence; wē magon ēow rād ġelāran (we can teach you a plan).

The finite verb often comes at the end in dependant sentences, an auxiliary verb often coming after an infinitive or participle; þæt wæron þā ārestan sċipu Dēniscra manna þe Angel-cynnes land ġesōhton (those were the first ships of Danish men which came to the land of the English race); þæt mæste wæl þe wē sġēgan hīerdon oþ þisne andweardan dæg (the greatest slaughter that we have heard tell of up to this present day); þæt hīe þone Godes mann ābītan scolden (in order that they should devour the man of God).

There is a tendency to put the verb at the end in principal sentences also, or, at least, to bring it near the end : hiene man ofslōg (they killed him); hīe þær sġe nāmon (they got the victory there).

l. 7. sēo ælmesse. Gr. 44. 3.

l. 12. geworhte. Gr. 46. (3).

l. 16. hiera. Gr. 41. 3.

nēfre . . ne . . nānes. Gr. 52. 2. ne was is usually contracted into næs; the full form is used here because the was is emphatic.

l. 17. hēt ofslēan. Gr. 50. 4.

l. 23. Æpelred cyning. Gr. 42. 6.

l. 24. Æsces-dūn, sf. Ashdown, literally 'hill (or down) of the ashtree.'

l. 27. wile here denotes repetition, = 'is in the habit of.' Cp. l. 52.

l. 28. ponne is correlative with gif (l. 26), Gr. 52. 3.

l. 37. æلميhtiga. Gr. 43. (4).

l. 43. ēower se heofonlica Fæder. This insertion of the definite article between a possessive pronoun and an adjective is frequent.

l. 50. bēo. Gr. 48. (6).

l. 56. twēntig wintra. Gr. 18.

l. 58. Dēofol. Gr. 44. 1.

l. 60. scortan. Gr. 43. (2).

l. 61. fisca. Gr. 41. 3.

l. 63. pām, those.

hider on land, lit. hither on to land, = to this land.

l. 74. blētsian. The older form of this word is blēdsian. It is a derivative of blōd, like rīcsian from rīce, with mutation of the root vowel. Its original meaning was to 'sprinkle with blood,' and hence, in heathen times, to 'consecrate,' especially to consecrate an altar by sprinkling it with the blood of the victim.

l. 80. godspell. The original form of this word was probably gōd-spell = 'good tidings,' a literal translation of the Greek euaggélion.

Afterwards the first vowel was shortened before the following consonant-group, or else god was directly substituted for gōd, as giving a more evident meaning, the result being that the word was taken in the sense of 'God's tidings.' In this form it was adopted into Icelandic (guðspiall) and Old High German (gotespel), having been introduced by the Old English missionaries.

bip. Gr. 45. 5.

l. 82. hīe. Gr. 19.

l. 89. him on ælce healfe, lit. 'to (for) themselves on each side,' = on every side (of themselves).

l. 92. rihtne. Gr. 42. 5.

l. 93. Æpelwulf-ing. Gr. 38.

l. 101. fare gē. Gr. 22. 7.

l. 106. forsāwon. A plural verb after a singular noun of multitude is common in O. E., as in other languages.

l. 107. gif se blinda blindne lætt. gif here takes the indic., instead of the subj. (Gr. 48. 6), because the case is not assumed to be unreal. So also in V. 13, where the opposition (wiþstent) is assumed as certain, and VI. 19.

l. 114. cwæde. Gr. 48. (5).

l. 118. mæge. Compare Gr. 47. (B. 1).

l. 119. sīe. Gr. 47. (A).

l. 120. Scotland is here used in its older sense of 'Ireland.' Compare the first extract from the Chronicle, p. 79 below.

l. 121. his. Gr. 41. 3.

l. 123. healden. Gr. 48. (2).

l. 124. wære. Gr. 47. (B. 1).

l. 132. sē þe. Gr. 21.

l. 135. þæt. Gr. 21; 52. 3.

l. 137. on ēare. Gr. 51. 2.

l. 138. gewendon him, lit. 'they went for-themselves'; a reflexive pronoun in the dative, Gr. 40. (1), is often added to verbs of motion.

l. 139. dō gē. Gr. 22.

l. 142. grēte. Compare Gr. 49. (8).

l. 145. swelce, adverb, 'as it were.'

l. 151. nime. Gr. 49. (7).

l. 161. cōme. Compare mæge, l. 118 above.

l. 166. ofslægenne. Gr. 46. 5.

l. 176. geweorpen. Gr. 47. (B. 1.)

l. 180. wolde. Gr. 45. 5.

l. 191. bēon. Gr. 48. (2).

II. FROM THE GOSPEL OF ST. MATTHEW.

1. 1. pās mīn word. Gr. 43. 8.
 1. 16. āweorpe. Gr. 49. (8).
 1. 20. hit refers back to sād, l. 18.
 1. 22. ūp sprungenre sunnan. Gr. 41. 2.
 1. 28. is ġeworden. An over-literal rendering of the Latin factum est.
 1. 32. hine, reflexive, Gr. 19.
 1. 40. tō forbærnenne. We see here how out of the active 'in order to burn it' may be developed the passive 'in order that it may be burnt,' as in the modern E. 'a house to let.' Compare Gr. 50. 4, (1).
 1. 52. on hiera fatu. Compare I. 137.
 1. 60. ġewordenre ġecwidrædenne pām wyrhtum. A very stiff adaptation of the ablative absolute of the original, 'conventionem autem factam cum operariis.' pām wyrhtum is to be taken as a dative of the person affected (Gr. 41).
 1. 67. dyde pām swā ġelice. The Latin has simply 'fecit similiter.' The sense is 'did like to it' (like his former proceeding), the swā being pleonastic.
 1. 86. pæt. Gr. 21.
 1. 90. sunu, dative, 'for his son.'
 1. 106. ġiefthūs. hūs must here be taken in the sense of 'hall,' 'chamber.' In Icelandic the plural hūs is regularly used to denote the group of buildings (often detached) constituting a house or homestead, the kitchen, for instance, which was originally detached, being still called eldhūs (fire-house).
 1. 107. pæt hē wolde ġesēon. This clause is due to a confusion of two constructions, (1) hē wolde ġesēon, (2) pæt (in order that) hē ġe'sāwe.

III. OLD TESTAMENT PIECES.

The first two pieces are taken from Ælfric's translation of the Heptateuch, first published by Thwaites in his Heptateuchus, and afterwards by Grein as vol. i. of his Bibliothek der angelsächsischen Prosa—Genesis xi. and xxii. The other three are from Ælfric's Homilies (edited by Thorpe)—ii. 584 foll., i. 570, ii. 432.

1. 4. him betwēonan. Gr. 51. 5.
 1. 13. læden. This word is the Latin latina (= lingua latina) used first in the sense of 'Latin language,' then of language generally.

l. 17. for pām . . for pām pe, correlative, the first demonstrative, the second relative.

l. 28. tō scoldon. This use of sceal with a verb of motion understood is very common.

l. 36. him self. him is the reflexive dative of interest referring to God—literally, ‘God him-self will appoint for him-self.’ In such constructions we see the origin of the modern himself, themselves.

ll. 46, 47. nū . . nū, correlative, = now . . now that, the second nū being almost causal (since).

l. 51. hæfde . . tō, took . . for.

l. 52. Gode tō lāce. Gr. 40. (1).

l. 57. mīn ege, objective genitive, ‘the fear of me.’

māre, neut. ‘a greater thing,’ ‘something more important.’

l. 81. māre. Cp. l. 57.

l. 82. wære. Gr. 49. (7).

l. 89. hwæs is governed by giernde, by ‘attraction.’

l. 135. miðle, adverb.

l. 137. wære. Gr. 49. (7).

l. 153. beliefan is a later form for geliefan.

l. 156. tō handum. Cp. l. 122 above.

l. 174. ær genam. Gr. 46. 6.

l. 200. fram mannum. fram here, as usual, denotes the agent ‘by’ in passive constructions.

l. 202. wite. Compare Gr. 48. (3) and 49. (8).

IV. SAMSON.

From Ælfric’s translation of the Book of Judges in Thwaites’ Heptateuch.

l. 8. onginp tō āliesenne, will release. onginnan is often used pleonastically in this way.

l. 35. Gaza gehāten. When a name together with gehāten is put in apposition to another noun it is left undeclined, contrary to the general principle (Gr. 42. 6).

l. 41. swā swā hie belocenu wæron, locked as they were.

ufewardum pām cnolle. Gr. 43. 2.

l. 46. wæs, consisted.

l. 51. geworhte. We should expect geworhtum (Gr. 42. 5). Perhaps the nom. is due to confusion with the construction with a relative clause—pe of sinum geworhte sind.

1. 74. Dagon gehāten. Compare l. 35. swelce, 'on the ground that'—'because (as they said).'
1. 81. hēton. Compare I. 106.
1. 87. forþ is often used pleonastically in this way with mid.

V. FROM THE CHRONICLE.

1. 2. hēr sind, there are here. hēr is here used analogously to þær, as in II. 3 and the modern E. there are. Cp. also l. 12 below.

ġepēodu, languages as the test of nationality. It is believed that Latin was still spoken as a living language by the Romanized Britons at the time of the venerable Bede (eighth century), from whose Church History this section was taken by the compilers of the Chronicle.

1. 5. Armenia is an error for Armorica.

1. 6. Scithie, Scythia.

1. 8. Norpibernie, North of Ireland.

1. 24. hēr, at this date—at this place in the series of entries which constitute the Chronicle.

1. 26. Wyr̥tġeorn is the regular development of an earlier Wurtigern* from the British Vortigern.

1. 28. Ypwinesflēot has not been identified; some say Ebbsfleet.

1. 45. Æġlesprep, Aylesthorpe, a village near Aylesford.

1. 49. Crēġanford, Crayford.

1. 52. The diction of this passage, with its alliteration and simile, shows that it is taken from some old poem.

1. 61. hǣpne mēnn, Danes.

1. 62. mid Defena-sċīre, literally 'together with Devonshire,' that is 'with a force of Devonshire men.'

1. 64. dux is here written instead of ealdormann. So also we find rex for cýning.

1. 65. Sandwic, Sandwich.

1. 68. fēorþe healf hund, fourth half=three and a half. This is the regular way of expressing fractional numbers, as in the German viertelhalb.

1. 71. Sūpriġe, Surrey.

1. 73. Āclēa, Ockley.

1. 76. se hēre, the Danish army. hēre got a bad sense, through its association with herġian (to harry), and hence is applied only to a plundering, marauding body of men. In the Laws hēre is defined as a gang of thieves more than thirty-five in number. The national English army (militia) is called fierd, l. 71, 3 above.

Humbremūpa, mouth of the Humber.

l. 77. Eoforwic, York; a corruption of Eboracum, l. 84. inne wurdon, got in.

l. 85. sume. Compare IV. 51.

VI. KING EDMUND.

From Ælfric's Lives of the Saints, now in course of publication for the Early English Text Society by Prof. Skeat. The present life has been printed only by Thorpe, in his Analecta Anglo-saxonica from a very late MS. It is here given from the older MS., Cott. Jul. E. 7.

It will be observed that the present piece is in alliterative prose, that is, with the letter-rime of poetry, but without its metrical form. The alliteration is easily discernible:—cōm sūpan ofer sǣ fram sancte Benedictes stōwe; dæge, tō Dūnstāne, &c.

l. 1. sancte is an English modification of the Latin genitive sancti.

l. 5. sancte is here the E. dative inflection, sanct having been made into a substantive.

l. 39. bilewīt = bile-hwīt* (with the regular change of hw into w between vowels) literally 'white (=tender) of bill,' originally, no doubt, applied to young birds, and then used metaphorically in the sense of 'gentle,' 'simple.'

l. 70. worhte flēames. This construction of wyrcan with a genitive is frequent.

l. 76. wære, subj. Gr. 48. (6).

l. 85. fūse. The correct reading is probably fūsne, but the plural fūse may be taken to refer to Hingwar and his men collectively.

l. 149. gebedhūs. The Welsh bettws, as in Bettws-y-coed = 'chapel in the wood,' still preserves the O. E. form nearly unchanged.

l. 176. swā pæt does not denote result here, but is explanatory—'namely by being bound. . .'

l. 178. hie, reflexive.

l. 179. pæs . . hū, correlative.

l. 185. The reference is apparently to Proverbs xxiv. 11, which (in the Vulgate) runs thus: 'Erue eos qui ducuntur ad mortem.'

l. 200. hwæper, (that he might see) whether . . .

l. 215. lichaman, instrumental dative (Gr. 41) of defining.

l. 222. Ēlig = ǣl-īeg 'eel-island.'
